OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

Re: Notification of Ex Parte Communication
MB Docket Nos. 02-277, 01-235, 96-197, 01-317, and 00-244

Dear Ms. Dortch:

This is to advise you, in accordance with Section 1.1206 of the FCC's rules, that on May 5, 2003, George Mahoney, General Counsel and Secretary of Media General, Inc., John Feore of this office, and I met with Commissioner Kathleen Q. Abernathy and her media legal advisor, Stacy Robinson, to discuss the FCC's proposed use of a diversity "index"; Media General, Inc.'s concern over any FCC modification of the newspaper/broadcast cross-ownership rule that would provide relief only in large markets; the public interest benefits of convergence that would be lost in smaller markets if the FCC were to take such an approach; the legal infirmities involved in any action short of complete elimination of the newspaper/broadcast cross-ownership rule; and Media General's letter of April 22, 2003, to Commissioner Kathleen Q. Abernathy and the studies included therein. The attached materials were submitted during the meeting.

As required by section 1.1206(b), two copies of this letter are being submitted for each of the above-referenced dockets.

Very truly yours,

M. Anne Swanson

1. Tampa News Increases. Over the last decade, WFLA-TV has been continually expanding its news line-up and has made the following increases in local news and programming:

August 1992:	Debut of "NewsWatch 8 Weekend Morning Edition" (Sat. & Sun., 9 am – 9:30 am)
	Debut of "NewsWatch 8 Weekend Edition @ Noon" (Sat. & Sun., one-half hour)
September 1994:	Debut of "NewsWatch 8 Sunrise" (M-F, 5:30 am – 6 am)
October 1997:	Expansion of Saturday's "NewsWatch 8 Weekend Edition @ Noon" (Sat., noon – 1 pm)
May 1998:	Expansion of Sunday's "NewsWatch 8 Weekend Edition" (at various times on Sundays over the next four months: Sun. 9 am – 10 am, then noon – 1 pm, then 9 am – 10 am)
June 1998:	Debut of "NewsWatch 8 Midday" (M-F, 11 am – 11:30 am)
September 1999:	Debut of "NewsChannel 8 Today" (M-F, 5 am – 5:30 am)
January 2001:	Expansion of "NewsWatch 8 Midday" to two half-hours (M-F, 11 am – noon)
August 2001:	Debut of locally-produced "Daytime" in lieu of "NewsWatch 8 Midday" (M-F, 11 am – noon) ("Daytime" is local variant of "Today" with some paid programming inserts)
June 2002:	Relaunch of "NewsWatch 8 Midday" (M-F, 11 am – noon) and move of "Daytime" to M-F, 10 am – 11 am

2. Tampa Personnel Additions. The competitive benefits and successes that flow from convergence have allowed WFLA-TV to expand its news operations and increase the number of full-time professionals, even over the last year despite the very serious advertising recession and general economic downturn.
3. News and Programming Increases in Other Markets. Media General's other five convergence markets present similar experiences.

WSLS(TV), Roanoke, VA

- ▶ January 1997 -- Weekday early morning newscast expanded by 30 minutes from 6:00 a.m. - 7:00 a.m. to 5:30 a.m. to 7:00 a.m.
- ▶ Added local hunting and fishing show.
- ▶ Added numerous local specials covering the Virginia and NASCAR races in Martinsville, Virginia; the opening ceremonies of a nearby national D-Day memorial; live Town Hall meetings following the “9/11” disaster; and local and statewide political debates.

WJHL(TV), Tri-Cities, TN/VA

- ▶ Station has added a new 30-minute weekday newscast at 5:00 p.m.
- ▶ Added locally produced sports specials.
- ▶ Added periodic hour-long “Media Watch” and “Education Week” shows.

WBTW(TV), Florence, SC

- ▶ Convergence has allowed increased coverage of political campaigns, debates, and elections.
- ▶ April 2002, the combined outlets sponsored a debate among gubernatorial candidates in the Republican primary, the first debate of the campaign and the first in which all seven party candidates participated.
- ▶ October 2002, the combined outlets sponsored a debate between Republican and Democratic gubernatorial candidates.
- ▶ Both interests also recently staged “Our Town Hartsville,” a community meeting that was covered in both media.

WRBL(TV), Columbus, GA

- ▶ Added new 30-minute weekday newscast at 5:00 p.m.
- ▶ Scheduled to add another half-hour newscast at 5:30 p.m. later this fall.
- ▶ Developing local public affairs show, scheduled to debut this fall.

WMBB(TV), Panama City, FL

- ▶ Added early evening newscast on Sundays from 5:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

4. Staff Additions in Other Markets. Convergence has created more opportunities for staff, particularly news personnel.

WSLS(TV), Roanoke, VA

- ▶ Station's overall staff has grown by two individuals.
- ▶ News department staff has increased by nine.

WJHL(TV), Tri-Cities, TN/VA

- ▶ Full-time staff has increased from 74 to 88 employees.

WBTW(TV), Florence, SC

- ▶ Overall employee count has increased by two.

WRBL(TV), Columbus, GA

- ▶ Has added one additional staff person in newsroom and will add another two in September 2003 with debut of new 5:30 p.m. newscast.

WMBB(TV), Panama City, FL

- ▶ News staff has increased by three, but overall station has experienced decrease of three employees, so staff levels have remained constant with convergence, despite overall economic downturn.

IV. The FCC's Own Recently Released Media Ownership Studies Also Compel Repeal of the Rule.

On October 1, 2002, the FCC released twelve studies examining various aspects of the current media marketplace.¹⁰¹ Of these twelve empirical studies, six include information tangentially of relevance to the FCC's review of the newspaper/broadcast cross-ownership rule. While the studies may provide useful information to the FCC and the public, not one of them specifically provides a basis to evaluate whether the newspaper/broadcast cross-ownership rule is necessary in the public interest as a result of competition. Overall, these six studies demonstrate that the FCC lacks any empirical basis on which it can rely to continue implementation of the newspaper/broadcast cross-ownership rule as being necessary in the public interest as a result of competition. Individually, as shown below, the six studies show that the media marketplace has changed radically since 1975 when the rule was adopted and that repeal of the rule will not have a damaging effect on the public interest. In the end, these studies support repeal of the rule.

1. Nielsen Consumer Survey.

Study No. 8 released by the FCC reports the results of telephone interviews with 3,136 respondents whom Nielsen Media Research queried by telephone in late August and early September 2002 regarding their use of media.¹⁰² The pool of consumers from which the respondents were drawn had recently completed television diaries in the February and May 2002

“sweeps” measurement periods.¹⁰³ As a result, the group’s composition may have been slightly biased in favor of video watchers versus print readers. In addition, the average and median ages of the respondents were in their mid-forties,¹⁰⁴ so the pool of respondents likely was skewed against Internet usage.¹⁰⁵ Nonetheless, the results of the Nielsen consumer survey are telling in three principal ways: they demonstrate significant and growing reliance on the Internet for news and public affairs information; they show that cable and satellite subscription services have made measurable inroads in the use of over-the-air broadcast television; and they document substantial use of weekly newspapers, showing growing erosion of the market occupied by daily newspapers.

Internet Growth. Although the Nielsen study shows Americans still utilize a variety of more traditional media outlets to obtain local and national news, it also demonstrates that consumers are making substantial use of the Internet in seeking information about current events and public affairs. When asked to name the list of sources they had used for local news and current affairs within the preceding seven days, 18.8 percent, or almost one-fifth, of the group responded that they had used the Internet without hearing any list of suggested sources.¹⁰⁶ When those who did not volunteer use of the Internet were presented with a follow-up question asking specifically if they had used it as a source of local news and public affairs in the preceding week, another 18.5 percent, or again almost one-fifth of those questioned, answered affirmatively.¹⁰⁷ When the same questions were asked about national news, 21.3 percent, or even more respondents, volunteered that they had used the Internet.¹⁰⁸ Of those that had not volunteered their usage of the Internet to obtain national news, some 12.7 percent admitted such use when specifically queried.¹⁰⁹

When a slightly smaller group of respondents, those who admitted to obtaining any local news and current affairs in the last week, were then asked if they had used the Internet to gain access to local news and current affairs, 34.2 percent responded affirmatively.¹¹⁰ When a similar group was asked the same question but about national news and public affairs, a consistent 32.2 percent responded affirmatively.¹¹¹

In the overall pool of respondents, a large number admitted access to the Internet. Some 79.2 percent, or almost four-fifths, responded that they have access at home, work or both.¹¹² The study's results also presaged the likely emergence of the Internet as an even more dominant source of news. When respondents were asked to list which media they might utilize more or less in the future, the Internet, among all listed media, was the source that gained the highest percentage of "more often" responses -- 24.7 percent.¹¹³

Cable Television/Satellite-Delivered Video. The Nielsen study results also showed significant growth in the role of subscription video services, like cable and satellite, in the daily lives of Americans. Of respondents who answered that television is one of their sources of local news and public affairs, 67 percent said that they watch such news on broadcast television channels, and 58 percent, or almost as many, said that they watch cable or satellite news channels.¹¹⁴ When the same question was asked about sources of national news and current affairs, an even larger number, or 65.5 percent, listed cable or satellite news channels compared to 62.8 percent for broadcast news channels.¹¹⁵

A slightly smaller group of respondents, those who had said they get local or national news from various sources, were asked to name the source that they used most often. While almost one-third, or 33.1 percent, cited broadcast television channels, a surprisingly large number, or 23.3 percent, listed cable or satellite news channels, a figure that exactly matched the percentage of respondents who cited daily newspapers as the single source they use more often.¹¹⁶

Respondents who named a particular medium as the one that they used most often as their source for local or national news were also asked how likely, on a scale of one to five, they would be to use another suggested source if their preferred source were no longer available. A rating of “5” represented “much more likely” and “1” meant “no more likely.” When the numbers for those who rated a specified substitute as either a “5” or a “4” were tallied, cable or satellite news channels beat out daily newspapers among all respondents except those who had listed either weekly newspapers or magazines as their first preferred source.¹¹⁷ When all respondents were queried about what source they would be more likely to use for national or local news and current affairs in the future, cable and satellite channels came in second behind the Internet.¹¹⁸

Finally, among the respondents, many more households paid to receive subscription video services than subscription print services. Specifically, when all respondents were asked to list the subscription services, if any, that they received, 62 percent said cable, 20.5 percent said satellite, 49.8 percent said daily newspaper, and 24.0 percent said weekly newspaper.¹¹⁹ When the cable and satellite percentages are summed, they show that 83.4 percent of the respondents subscribed to a paid video source.¹²⁰

Weekly Newspapers. The results for the survey also show that weekly newspapers have a strong response rate vis-à-vis dailies in terms of readership. When the respondents who had not mentioned reading a weekly newspaper in the last seven days were specifically asked if they had done so, almost one-third, or 27.5 percent, responded affirmatively.¹²¹ When those respondents who had said they obtained their news from a newspaper were asked to specify whether it was a daily, weekly, or both, 10.2 percent said weekly only and 27.3 percent, or again almost one-third, said they subscribe to both.¹²²
